

ABSTRACT

A method for predictive maintenance of an operating component of an automatic machine, which method acquires at least two values, each relative to a respective characteristic quantity of the operating component, compares each value with a threshold value, and determines a specific defect and programs maintenance as a function of the comparison between the values and the threshold values.